

Project Update: January 2007

Some events of 2006:

- 1) Educational activities: An educational program was built and conducted last year with families. Families came to the study area to watch Short-toed Eagles in aggregation while fields are managed and received an explanation of this special phenomenon and got an explanation about the short-toed Eagle structure and adaptations while it was in hand.
- 2) Three presentations were given, two in different conferences and one at the university, presenting the new findings of the research.
- 3) Four Short-toed Eagles were fitted with satellite transmitters, all of them are now in Africa and their transmitters are active. In a month or so we are expecting their return to the study area in Israel.
