

Project Update: December 2013

On 7th December 2013, the ReefDoctor turtle project was presented at the Reef Conservation United Kingdom (RCUK) symposium. This was the first time the project had been presented in the UK, due to the hard work of the turtle team the response was wonderful.

We are also delighted to inform you that the ReefDoctor turtle project will be featured in the next Indian Ocean Turtle Newsletter (IOTN) peer reviewed journal to be released in January 2014

ReefDoctor would also like to convey our thanks to the Rufford Foundation for their faith and support, providing a foundation for the indigenous community of the Bay of Ranobe to implement fair and equitable sharing of benefits arising from the protection and utilisation of marine resources.
