

Project Update: October 2014

I just wanted to inform you that the fieldwork is going properly for my project. I have achieved half of my sample size for visitation observation (N=20 farmlands). I have started developing the map for all my field sites. Moreover I am done with the breeding data analysis and I am planning to increase the sample size to get a better pattern.

Sorry for the delay could not update you before because of the intense fieldwork. Meanwhile I have made some bee identification key for local awareness, I am attaching the picture here.

