

Project Update: September 2014

At the arachnological congress in Italy I won the first prize for my poster presentation of the results from our project. Please see the photos in the attachment. I know that my project is finished but this information is important for everyone that participated in it.

