

Project Update: June 2015

As is predicted by project, we finished first serial of fieldwork on Orjen, Lovcen and Rumija. We found optimistic situation on all three macro-localities. Habitats that we came across are completely suitable for karst viper, with very small amount of pollution or any other ecological problem which can threat potential populations of karst viper, especially on Orjen.

So far we found new locality of V. Ursinii only on Lovcen, but we hope that, during the researches in next three months, we will confirm the presence of karst viper on Orjen and Rumija.
