

Project Update: May 2016

According to the project time table in last 3 months we finished following activities:

1. January - April 2016. Promotional material preparation based on earlier investigations (leaflets, power point presentations). Finished leaflets are attached in the report.
2. February 2016. Call for competition in art on the theme "Protecting the diversity of spruce and fir woodlands". In order to make campaign more accessible for all ages we changed title of campaign in: "The most beautiful woodland in Bosnia and Herzegovina". This activity will be finished in May 2016. The link to the Facebook page is: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/1434904570100324/>.
3. January-February 2016. Preparations for the International Forest Day on March 21st 2016. We organised workshop on "Vilsonovo arbor walk", on theme learning difference between spruce and fir, and small and big wood ant. We organised promotional material distribution, gave away seedlings of spruce and fir and organised media conference on the March 20th in order to promote the project and International forest day. Forest day campaign had significant coverage of TV and printed media in Bosnia and Herzegovina.
4. In February 2016. We started on web page design and expansion of BIO.LOG existing web site, this activity will be finished till end of the project.

From the beginning of the project we have implemented most of the high schools and elementary school campaign, mainly leaflet distribution (leaflet 1 and poster 1).

From April 2016 we are planning to start field investigations in virgin forest Ravna vala.

Fig. 1-2. Promotional material distribution and seedlings of spruce and fir.

Fig. 3. Media conference on March 20th.

Fig. 4. Promotional material.

