

Project Update: September 2017

Training Course for New Member of Our Team

We organized a training course for new member of our team. Next to the activities regarding the field trips and non-invasive sampling, we hold lectures about genetic analyses and its applications in conservation of wild animals to the new member.

