

Project Update: October 2018

Photographic update on activities:

Having a discussion with Nathalia Silva de Souza Lima working on Plastic waste recycling in Brazil.

Left: Poster Presentation of my PhD thesis work on Marine Pollution Management with PhD fellow, Kwesi from Ghana. Right: Team members working on Management of Marine Litter.

Organizing team group, headed by Ocean Conservancy, working on the Upcoming International Beach Clean Up event. Our Project will be participating.

Left: KMFRI Marine Debris Volunteer Program (KMDVP) Showcasing products made from recycling of Marine Litter at the ASK Show, Mombasa, Kenya. Right: Testing a stool made from marine litter (plastic bottles) at EcoWorld Watamu.

Left: EcoWorld Watamu Marine litter Collection Point. Right: From right, Lenice (CORDIO-East Africa), Mr. Katana (Shelly Beach BMU-chairman), Patrick (Project leader).

Left: Artworks made from marine litter (bottle tops) at EcoWorld Watamu. Right: Mayra (EcoWorld Watamu) Explaining how turtles are made from marine litter (bottle tops).

Left: Dolphin made from marine litter (bottle tops) at EcoWorld Watamu. Right: Map of Africa made from marine litter (bottle tops) at EcoWorld Watamu.

Viewing a Coconut tree made from Marine litter at EcoWorld Watamu.