

Project Update: December 2017

Recently, I visited in the Kumaon Himalaya to conduct an outreach event with a local NGO in order to develop resilience among mountain dwellers. It was great learning experience to talk to them about their challenges on conservation and sustainability of natural resources including caterpillar fungus. I also gave a talk on importance of resilient community for sustainable future in the Himalaya.

