

Project Update: June 2018

As it is predicted by the project timescale, fieldwork is ongoing and four surveyed fishing gears are sampled. Since the project was approved, 7 fieldwork days have been done from which 2 were trawling surveys, 2 big game fishing days, 2 days gillnet fishing and 1 with pelagic longlines. As the weather was occasionally bad for fishing during June 2018, small number of fieldwork days are delayed.

262 individuals of sharks have been recorded so far. Among the found species, most common was the small-spotted catshark (Scyliorhinus canicula) which was present mostly in trawl surveys. Bigger shark species were found too. From commercial catches, we have found a few individuals of common smoothhound (Mustelus mustelus). From those that are considered as commercial, we have found one individual of blue shark (Prionace glauca) caught by a pelagic longline and an individual of bluntnose six gill shark (Hexanchus griseus) caught by gillnet. Furthermore, two more pelagic sharks were recorded, one blue shark and one shortfin mako, from citizen sources. Length and weight data as well as sex and other has been collected for the found individuals.

Media promotion of the project had a significant impact across the Montenegro and the region. The project website is under construction and will be completed in the following period. The article prepared for the newspapers "Pobjeda" had very good placing in public and was shared by a big number of national and regional media houses, web-portals and newspapers. The important thing was that the article was published in the beginning of the tourist season and big number of people was informed about sharks with the real facts.

Top: Elasmobranchs caught by gillnets. Above: Measuring of common smoothhound (Mustelus mustelus) caught by trawl.
