

Project Update: March 2013

Good news for Persian cheetah in Iran. A group of six cheetahs were seen just a couple of days ago in Miandasht by local people and filmed. They included a female with three young plus two adults. We think that the three cubs we found last summer in this area still thriving with their mother. They were the only cheetah family confirmed during 2012 in Iran; all safely passed their first risky year of life. You can see the news here:
