Project Update: March 2019

60 year-old Kancha Tamang, resident of Shivapuri Nagarjung National Park bufferzone area at Murkha Ward No.1, indicates that conflict between leopards and humans has increased in recent years. He stopped farming near the jungle due to the fear of wildlife attack. Goat farming is the backbone of his livelihood but he cannot raise goats near the forest because of leopard threat. According to him, one leopard eats around three goats in a single day.
