

Project Update: August 2021

I am pleased to report that the dissertation titled: Assessing the efficacy of five commonly used snake and gecko repelling agents when applied outdoors, was accepted by the university. The report of compliance with all the requirements for a Master of Science (MSc) in Wildlife Management was received on the 27th July 2021.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude for making this study, the first of its kind in South Africa, possible.
