

Project Update: September 2021

Last week we were on Lake Markovačko and did the last black bullhead selective removal, provided by this project. Also, colleagues from the Faculty of Biology collected water samples for qualitative and quantitative analysis of phytoplankton, water data were taken using a multiparameter sonde and blood samples were taken to perform micronucleus and comet tests.

Everything was done according to plan and without any problems.

