“The Importance of Non – Formal Education in Conservation: The European Wildcat (Felis silvestris) as an Example Species”

REPORT „Capacity building in the wildcat monitoring“

In December we organised education about the importance of wildcat monitoring for the local schools' students. The education had two steps. In the first step we held the lessons focusing to the importance of wild cat monitoring and conservation. In the second step we showed to the students how to conduct monitoring in the field. During the field trip we set up phototraps with the help of students in the area where we expect to find wildcats. During all field trips we had help of the local hunting association „Srna“ Srbac.
