

Project Update: November 2022

As per the timeline the project is complete, where I managed to collect data from two rainy seasons, and I have conducted a short training and feedback session in October 2022 to the beneficiaries who are the community at the study sites.

Currently, I have submitted a paper that is under review now, I am waiting for it so I can attach it during submission of all required documents for the project including final reports and evaluation form.
