

Project Update: March 2010

Motivation Programme

The riparian communities are being motivated towards sustainable long-term turtle conservation. We are very happy to get good responses from the all age groups. We have gifted footballs to the villagers, who helped us in the in-situ egg protection programme by providing with turtle eggs, poacher's information, etc.

Left: Children's are happy with the football and helping in the egg protection program. Right: Making the community familiar with the significance of our egg protection program.
