

Project Update: December 2010

Wall Magazine

The idea about wall magazine came across when school children working on their art project. They like to show their own work to their peers. Why don't we display their creativity through wall magazine.

Wall magazine has many purposes. It encourages school children to be creative, working with their peers and be responsible.

Every week, children discuss what articles and news about coastal environment they want to share. The first theme is their experiences when they had a field trip to seagrass bed.

School children are very enthusiastic to watch their works done.
